The meeting began with a discussion of procedures. Ilyse Mohr, who previously served on the Watertown Cultural Council, spoke approvingly of their tradition of inviting (but not requiring) all applicants to appear before the committee and briefly make the case for their projects.

The bulk of the meeting was devoted to the 2012 BCC grant applications. Sarah Ellison prepared and distributed a spreadsheet, which assigned a number and presented basic information about each application. All were discussed in turn.

Christine Sandvik spoke about the ongoing reorganization efforts at the Belmont Gallery of Art and asked the committee to set aside time at its next meeting to further discuss the BCC's relationship with the gallery and its possible involvement in the gallery's reorganization.

The next two meeting dates were set: Thursday, November 10th, and Monday, November 21st, both at 7:30 in Town Hall.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:00.
